

Support the Work of the Diocese of Cheyenne with a Tax-Free Contribution

Anyone with foresight will plan for the future, and will consider the use of supplemental funds to makes ends meet.

The Diocese of Cheyenne looks to the future as well. Our discerning Board of Director members realize that building up our endowment is the only way to prepare adequately as we grow and flourish. We can't rely on annual gifts for that growth.

The Diocese of Cheyenne is building a strong Endowment that you can be part of, and for a Limited time there's even a tax advantage for you.

Limited Time Tax Break

On August 17, 2006, President Bush signed into law new tax incentives for charitable gifts from donors who are 70 ½ or older. The Pension Protection Act of 2006 encourages financial support of the good work done by charitable organizations in the United States. From now through December 31, 2007, you can transfer up to $100,000 to The Diocese of Cheyenne without paying income tax on the withdrawal.

This one-time benefit expires at the end of the year, so consult with your IRA custodian today and ask for the forms to transfer amount of your choice to The Diocese of Cheyenne.

Learn more about The Diocese Cheyenne's endowment program and why so many donors are using this tool to pass along their values to future generations. Use the handy form below to request further information and to possibly arrange for a visit with our Director of Development, Tim Stransky.
